Tutoring Experience

Over the past decade, I’ve worked with students from diverse academic backgrounds, focusing on IB English and A-Level English Literature. My experience includes guiding students through complex literary analysis and preparing them for their exams with structured writing strategies.

In addition to IB and A-Levels, I have tutored IGCSE students in both English Language and Literature. Many of my students have improved their grades significantly and gained confidence in essay writing and critical thinking, allowing them to excel in their studies.

I have also taught AP English, helping students master rhetorical analysis and develop persuasive writing skills. My tutoring has consistently helped students achieve high scores, paving the way for their academic success at top universities.
